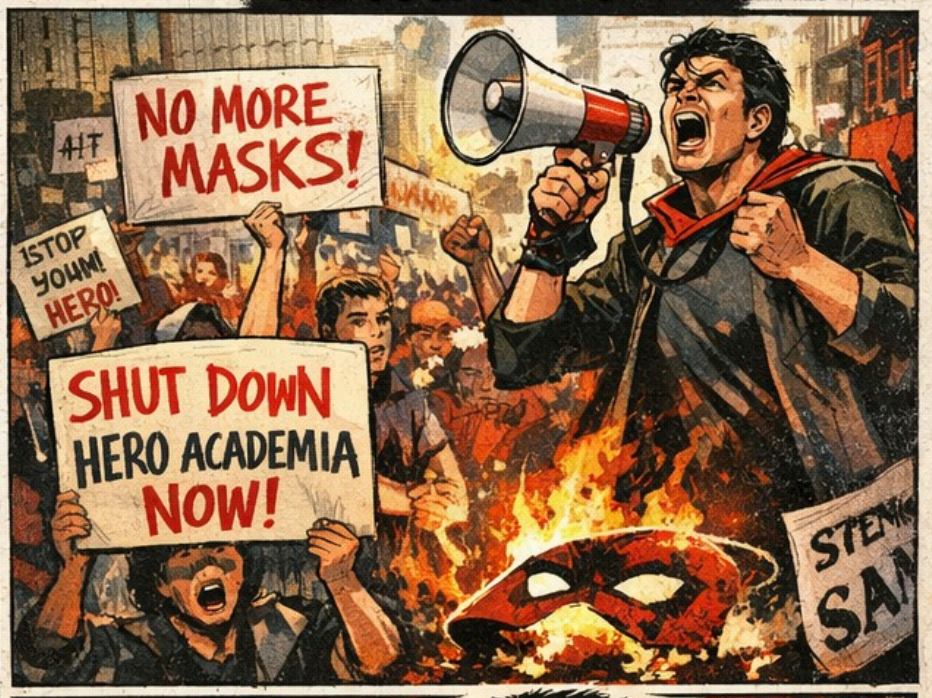
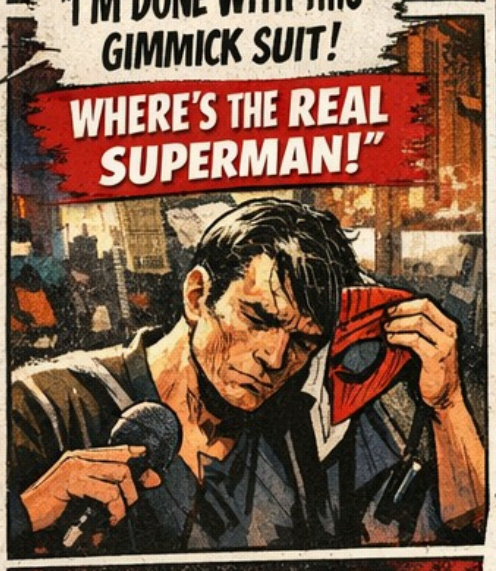
THE DAILY BUGLE

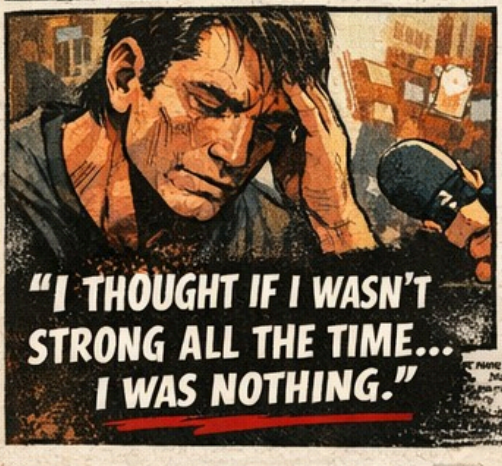
WHERE IS THE REAL SUPERMAN?!

NATION IN CRISIS: 'SHUT DOWN HERO ACADEMIA!"

IDENTITY PROTESTS SPREAD THROUGHOUT CITY!







EXCLUSIVE REPORT – PAGE 4

THE DAILY BUGLE

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW — CAPTAIN AMERICA

LEAKED

DOCUMENT TYPE: TRANSCRIBED INTERVIEW
FORMAT: TYPEWRITTEN (COURIER)
STATUS: LEAKED
SUBJECT: CAPTAIN AMERICA

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW — CAPTAIN AMERICA

"THE SHIELD DOESN'T REST."

INTERVIEWER:
INTERVIEWER: State your name for the record.

CAPTAIN AMERICA:
{PAUSE} Cha... Steve Rogers. I'm alright.

CAPTAIN AMERICA:
People are calling this a "national ego crisis."
You've been at the center of it.
What's your response?

CAPTAIN AMERICA: (scoffs softly)
"Crisis".... Nah.
This was always coming.
You keep telling people to be something they're nt-- eventually... they break.

INTERVIEWER: Break how?

CAPTAIN AMERICA:
They start thinking
Theyre supposed to carry everything.
Family.
Country. Problems that aren't even thiers.
.... Bucky.
That shield?
It's not just metal.
It becomes expectation.
Everywhere you go—
"be strong" "do the right thing"
"don't mess up"
All the time. No off switch.

[RECORDER CLICKS OFF]

THE DAILY BUGLE

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW — "THE KINGS STEP DOWN"

AFRICA

EUROPE

THE DESERT

DOCUMENT TYPE: TRANSCRIBED INTERVIEW
FORMAT: TYPEWRITTEN (COURIER)
STATUS: LEAKED
SUBJECTS: THREE CROWNS

[RECORDER CLICKS ON]

INTERVIEWER: State what you stand for.

AFRICA (THE CROWN): I was raised to carry my people.

EUROPE (THE THUNDER): I was raised to never fall.

THE DESERT (THE RULER): I was raised to become power.

[PAUSE]

INTERVIEWER: And now?

AFRICA: ...I am tired of representing everyone.

EUROPE: ...I am tired of being unbreakable.

THE DESERT: ...I was tired long before this began.

[PAUSE]

INTERVIEWER: If you step down... what happens to your people?

[PAUSE]

AFRICA: They learn to stand.

EUROPE: They learn to feel.

THE DESERT: They learn the truth.

And what is that?

AFRICA: We were never meant to carry it all.

EUROPE: We were never gods.

THE DESERT: We were only men.

[RECORDER CLICKS OFF]

THE DAILY BUGLE

NEW YORK'S FINEST DAILY NEWSPAPER EST. 1897 LATE CITY FINAL 5¢

NATIONWIDE PROTESTS ERUPT
"THE QUEENS WALK OUT"

DOCUMENT TYPE: FIELD REPORT
STATUS: DEVELOPING LOCATION: MULTIPLE CITIES
SUBJECT: CIVILIAN UNREST

[FIELD REPORT]

Crowds gathered across multiple cities late last night as hundreds of women took to the streets.

Not for policy.

Not for politics.

But for something harder to name.

Identity.

Witnesses report signs and chants spreading rapidly:

"I AM NOT YOUR FAIRYTALE"

"STOP WRITING MY ROLE"

"I'M NOT WAITING ANYMORE"

Authorities have not responded.

"WHAT HAPPENS... WHEN NO ONE COMES?"

Many participants described a shared pressure to live up to an unspoken standard—to be soft, to be chosen,

to be perfect.

A recurring phrase has been heard throughout the crowd:

"We were told someone would come."

Others were more direct.

"We were raised to wait."

"For what... we don't know anymore."

"NOT A PRINCESS
REAL LIFE ≠ STORY

"NOT A PRINCESS
REAL LIFE = STORY

[RECORDER CLICKS BACK ON]

INTERVIEWER:

There are reports your team is unstable.

CAPTAIN AMERICA:

…

That’s one way to put it.

Tony happened.

He switched up.

Bad.

INTERVIEWER:

Explain.

CAPTAIN AMERICA:

He used to build things to protect people.

Now he’s obsessed.

Locked in a lab talking about “solutions.”

Project: Ultron

Yeah.

That’s what he calls it.

INTERVIEWER:

And the Avengers?

CAPTAIN AMERICA:

Falling apart.

Bucky’s exhausted.

Everyone’s tired.

And now Tony’s talking like he wants to run the world.

Like he knows better than everyone else.

INTERVIEWER:

Final statement?

[PAUSE]

CAPTAIN AMERICA:

…

Screw this bravado crap

…

Where’s Superman?

[RECORDER CLICKS OFF]